Lazio Bice Migliau, Micaela Procaccia, 1997 A guidebook for the region of Lazio, central Italy. The introduction (p. 9-33) presents the history of Jews in Lazio, relating also to Church restrictions and settlement limitations which led to the disappearance of 50 Jewish communities and 115 synagogues. Begins the historical account with the fall of Judea and the establishment of the largest Jewish community in the diaspora in Rome. After Christianity became the state religion of the Roman Empire, persecution of Jews increased. In the medieval period Jews were charged with blood libels and with causing the plague. After 1492 many Iberian Jews settled in Rome, but they were accused of heresy there as well. Economic and other restrictions were severe, as were humiliations. In 1870 the Rome ghetto was abolished. In 1938 the racist laws introduced by the fascists made the Jews second-class citizens. On 16 October 1943, 2,000 Jews were rounded up in Rome and deported to their deaths. The guidebook illustrates many of the above topics via art, architecture, and historical documents found in various locations in Lazio.

The Vascular Flora of the National Park of Abruzzo, Lazio and Molise (Central Italy) Fabio Conti, Fabrizio Bartolucci, 2015-02-06 This book provides an updated list of the vascular flora of the National Park of Abruzzo, Lazio and Molise, incorporating the latest nomenclatural and floristic findings. The list of plants was extrapolated from a geographic database including all data from floristic or vegetational references and herbarium specimens concerning the Park area. This data storage tool was obtained from the database of Abruzzo vascular flora (Conti et al. 2010) and adapted to the study area by adding those areas of the Park falling in the regions of Lazio and Molise and their accompanying floristic and vegetational data. Analysis of the data has allowed gaps in the floristic knowledge of the Park, such as comparatively or completely unexplored areas, to be identified, together with those species records that still require confirmation and/or further study. On the basis of these deductions, fieldwork aimed at the collection of new floristic data was carried out. Verification of the correct identification of herbarium specimens collected in the past, as well as a systematic study of critical genera, were also important priorities.
